

My Favorite Application

This is a fast edit of mine to formally and creatively present my favorite application — Discord. Now that I have thought about it, it allows me to communicate with my friends whether we are playing video games, spending time hanging out, collaborating on a task or project or assignment, or talking during online discussions.

Discord allows me and my friends to play tabletop games such as Dungeons & Dragons, with an online die to roll upon into and one act as a narrator or dungeon master. It's really fun because we utilize online resources that supports our campaign such as characters and character sheet.

Lastly, me and my friends utilizes the screen share to allow us watching the same movie as if we are doing movie marathon like we used to when there's no COVID-19 yet, then afterwards or if something funny or remarkable happen, we enable the microphone and talk like we used to or show our good laugh to show appreciation on the movie that we are watching.
